Frank Gannett writing in America's Future, the latest of the national weekly newspapers says:

In a Chicago convention hall seven years ago this summer, men and women were jubilant, dancing behind huge placards which said "Out of the red with Roosevelt." A few days ago, seven years after that slogan of hope, another fiscal year closed. Let us take stock.

When President Roosevelt took office, his gallant courage raised us from the depths. He cut expenses 25 percent—we had started out of the red with Roosevelt.

He applied recovery methods that had been tested and proved successful in other countries. For one hundred days we had such recovery as had never taken place in the nation's history. Farmers' prices and buying power increased two thirds. In four months, 3 1-2 million men and women went back to work. In market places everywhere values rose. Ten million stockholders saw their investments come out of the cellar. Private enterprise, like Lazarus, was rising from the grave. The whole nation was filled with new hope. We were going out of the red with Roosevelt.

But now we find the pledge of those nomination placards unfulfilled. Instead, we have gone into the red with Roosevelt—more than 20 billion dollars. You and I will never live to pay that bill. It will be presented to our children and our children's children.

But that is not all. The President asked for nearly four billion dollars more. Already flattened by debt and punchdrunk from taxes, the nation is asked to go further into the red with Roosevelt.

We are no longer on the road on which the President so courageously started. Six years ago, for reasons that have never been explained, successful recovery policies were laid aside in favor of control and regulation from Washington. Every farm, every factory, every retail business felt the fumbling hand of government.

At the end of the 1938-39 fiscal year we have more than 40 billions of public debt, taxes so heavy that they stifle initiative that should be creating employment. Twenty-five cents out of every dollar goes for taxes. We have 12 millions of unemployed. Twenty-six million men and women are living at expense of government. That means one person in five of our entire population is dependent upon taxpayers through Washington.

The government promises security but gives us insecurity—not merely because the lending and spending program carries the Treasury further and further into the red. There are other far more sinister effects. They were well described a few weeks ago by Adolf A. Berle, Jr., a member of the New Deal's inner circle, when testifying before the O'Mahoney Committee. Describing the consequences of prolonged government lending-spending, he said:

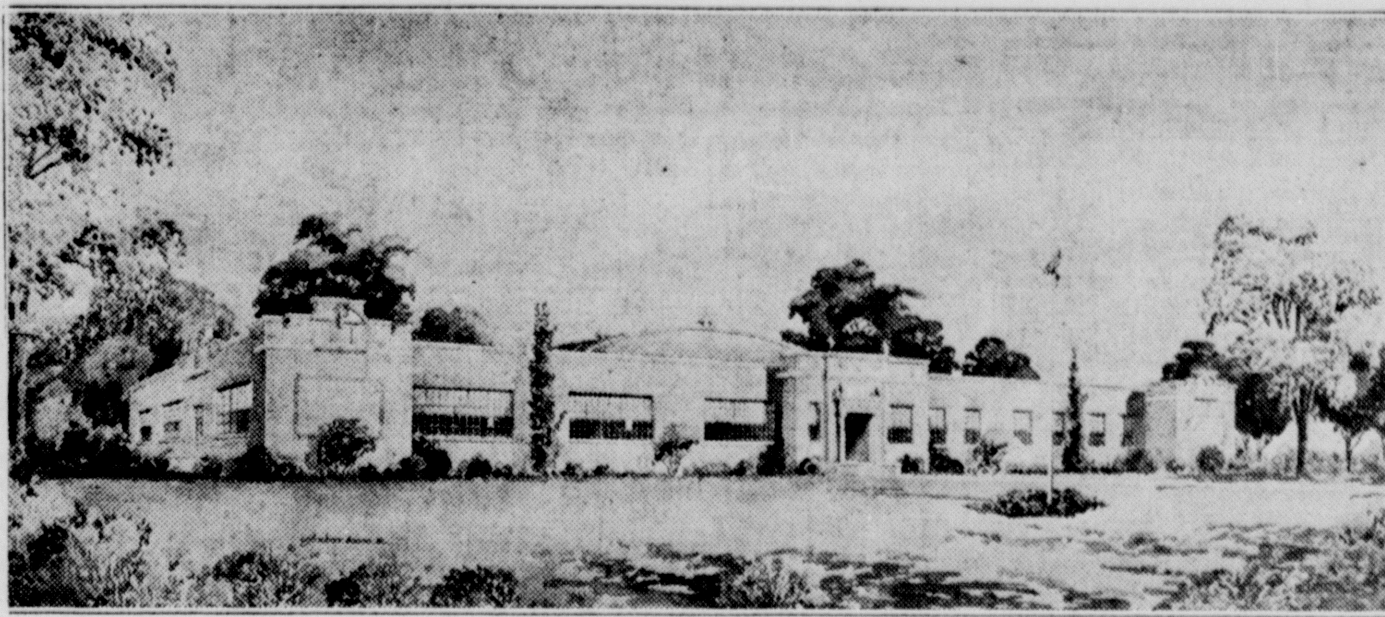

"Briefly, the government will have to enter into the direct financing of activities now supposed to be private; and a continuance of that direct financing must mean inevitably that the government ultimately will control and own these activities.

"Put differently, if the government undertakes to create wealth by using its own credit at the rate of four billions or so a year, and if its work is well done, the government will be acquiring direct productive mechanisms at the rate of four billions' worth a year or thereabouts.

"Over a period of years the government gradually will come to own most of the productive plants in the United States."

Note Mr. Berle's estimate of four billions a year and mark that only a week ago the President asked for 3,860,000,000 dollars for spend-lending, exactly 96 1-2 percent of the Berle figures. Note also the prediction that this lending program and the foreclosures that will follow will put the productive plants of America into the hands of the government.

New Sharp School Is Destroyed by Fire

Sharp's new $74,000 school building was almost totally destroyed by fire at 4 p. m. Sunday.

J. E. Johnson, architect, said that spontaneous combustion could have caused the blaze, but no definite cause is yet known. It has been definitely stated that the fire was not caused by electric wiring, as all wires were installed in conduit and so arranged that fire from electric current was impossible, it was said further.

Mr. Johnson was on his way to Sharp around 4 p. m. to show the building to a party of school officials from Holland. As he topped the hill overlooking the town of Sharp he discovered the fire.

Firemen from Cameron responded as did a truck from Rockdale. The only water supply available are wells without adequate flow.

The building was covered to the extent of $40,000 with insurance.

Walter Hess was arrested last Saturday by Constable B. F. Bailey and placed in jail here where he faces charges of drunkenness.

Miss Bernice McLerran of Austin spent the week end here visiting in the home of relatives.

The indomitable spirit of the Sharp community had asserted itself Tuesday as plans moved along rapidly to rebuild the school building destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon.

The vision that led the people to anticipate their school needs for generations and to build one of Texas' finest rural schools, was outlining the new progress and already it was said that "We will be in our new school by Christmas," thus displaying an example of community courage and faith seldom seen under such depressing circumstances.

The building destroyed Sunday was completed at a cost of $74,000 and of this amount the community paid 55 per cent with the federal government making a grant to complete the contract price.

Thus far no definite conclusion has been reached as to the cause of the fire, except that belief had been positive that electric wiring was not responsible.

Stay Out Europe Says Father O'Sullivan In Talk To Rotarians; Laments Ism Trends in the U. S.

Expressing the conviction that America should stay out of Europe and have nothing to do with its quarrels, Father Tom O'Sullivan of Burlington delivered a stirring address to the Rotary Club on Wednesday.

The address was non-political and was confined entirely to a discussion of the rights of individuals and their liberties. America should have none of the doctrines of isms of whatever nature they take. Citing the conditions in Spain he said that the people of the United States had been led to believe that the people were fighting over there to adjust political and economic conditions when as a matter of fact it was a struggle between paganism and Christianity.

Father O'Sullivan was born in Ireland and has lost none of the sparkling wit and refreshing frankness of the great Irish people. His address was forceful and clear cut. There can be no compromise on the fundamentals of liberty embodied in the right of the individual to follow his conscience and to govern himself by the process of free expression. America has problems as grave as those of Europe but they will not be decided upon the battlefield. "I like to think and to say that here in America we have the only Democracy left in the world. But there are forces at work in our own country which if not curbed, will lead to serious consequences in our national life. The national crime toll is a reflection upon American people and when I think of the youth delinquency, I become genuinely alarmed and I must say that our problem is one of leaving off selfishness and pursuit of the dollar and turn our attention and our intelligence to giving the youth of our country a chance to express themselves along legitimate lines."

Father O'Sullivan said that America is filled today with dangerous propaganda, and that the people are being misled. He said Congress had acted wisely in its refusal to change the neutrality law and believes that too much power can be concentrated by such proposals as those actualizing members who seek to make this country take sides in European wars.

Father O'Sullivan was cheered and complimented for the address. John C. Andres, secretary and treasurer, introduced Father O'Sullivan and also the following guests: Gus Evans, Emmett B. Streetman and John P. O'Neill of Burlington.

M. G. Cox Addresses Dallas Pythians

Mr. Cox's talk was based on the parable of the Good Samaritan and brought out the principles of friendship, charity and benevolence, the basic characteristics of Pythianism.

W. G. Wilson, Jr., was master of ceremonies and the invocation was given by Theo. Yarbrough, grand keeper of records and seal of Weatherford. Mr. Cox was introduced by W. Carroll, district deputy grand chancellor. With Mr. Cox was Coach L. C. Wood.

SCHOOL TO OPEN IN CAMERON, SEPTEMBER 11

The 1939 fall term of school in Cameron will open on Monday, September 11, it was announced here Wednesday by E. A. Perrin, Superintendent.

It was believed the school would have the largest enrollment in its history as transfers continued to increase. The school is almost in Class A as a result of the number of pupils in high school.

CITY WAKES UP TO NEED FOR SWIMMING BEACH IN CAMERON

Nothing is expected to be done in time to give Cameron the entertainment advantages of a municipal swimming beach this year, but the city council has undertaken an investigation to determine whether a beach can be built on property now being offered by Mrs. W. T. Hefley.

The property is known as the Hefley Lake Property, formerly owned by the late J. D. Hefley. On the property is a large reservoir, or fish tank with water supplied by nearby springs.

Sam McDermott, alderman, has been asked to determine whether there is a sufficient water supply for this purpose. It was said Tuesday the city still can obtain a grant of $8200 from the federal government.

682 BALES

A report today showed that 682 bales of cotton of the 1939 crop have been ginned in Cameron.

30,000 BALE CROP FORECAST IN MILAM

The 1939 cotton crop in Milam county was the most important consideration today as Cameron gin plants and those in other sections of the county went into high gear to turn out the staple in centuries old bales.

The Cameron Herald as has been its custom for more than three-quarters of a century brings an estimate of Milam county crop based upon the observation of competent factors who have watched production for many years. When the United States forecast was published on Tuesday indicating the shortest crop since 1935 the attention of farmers and businessmen was quick to turn to the fields from which the county's most profitable agricultural crop is to be harvested. How many bales of cotton will Milam county produce, is the question many are asking.

After a careful survey and study of acreage devoted to the staple, it is estimated that the crop in Milam county for 1939 will be approximately 30,000 bales. Factors like weather and possible rainfall for late acreage are to be reckoned with in the final gathering of the crop. Acreage reduction in the county precludes anything like a maximum crop. If the estimate of 30,000 bales is correct, the county will be some 10,900 bales short of the crop of 1938.

The extreme hot weather in July when temperatures averaged around 100 degrees blighted the brightest prospect in recent years for a bumper crop. With this heavy toll taken it is doubtful that the uplands in the cotton belt will produce anything like a normal crop. In the deeper soils of the bottoms the crop is better than the 1938 production and in the sand country where cotton is an exception, the crop is very good this year.

On the whole the harvest is encouraging because thousands of acres devoted to corn and other feed crops have produced an abundance and with the drouth area of other sections of the country depleted, the Milam county farmer has the prospect of realizing good financial returns from his corn crop.

Apples Grown Near Milano From 7 Year Old Tree Are Finest Seen In Milam County In Many Years

From a 7 year old apple tree in the garden of Mrs. Ellie Mills near Milano last week were taken several large delicious apples, and 6 of them were given to the Herald publisher by Mrs. Mills through G. N. Elmore who resides on the Mills farm.

The apples are much greater in size and more appetizing than the western apples now being sold in Cameron. Mrs. Mills has given several of the apples away to friends, including Judge Jeff T. Kemp of Cameron.

Seven years ago the seed of a delicious apple, of the 5c selling size, were planted in the Mills garden. From the seed the tree sprang and is this year bearing its greatest apple crop. They are the finest apples ever grown in this section of Texas.

Mrs. Mills is the daughter of the late Thomas Kirk, pioneer and brother in law of the late W. W. Ox-sheer. She proudly cares for the apple tree and believes it will set new records.

Sword Confederate Officer Given to Post of Veterans Here

A sword worn by the late Mitt Livingston, a native of Georgia and Confederate soldier, has just been presented to the local Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars, by Emmett W. Streetman, himself a war veteran.

The sword will be used by the Veterans here in initiation ceremonies and will be prized as a historic relic and to honor the family of Mr. Streetman, long prominent in Cameron.

For many years this sword has been guarded by the son of an ex-slave, Lewis Livingston now living on a farm near Branchville. The late slave, Tom Livingston, came to Texas with his master. He received the sword from Mitt Livingston, the Confederate officer and soldier. When Tom Livingston, the slave, died years ago, he gave the sword to his son, Lewis Livingston and told him of its history and legends.

The sword will be encased in a scabbard taken from a German captain in the late World War by Emmett W. Streetman. The scabbard which was personally removed from the person of the German after an engagement in France, is decorated with tassels and other finery.

It will be interesting to old citizens of Milam county to know that Mitt Livingston was elected sheriff of Milam county in 1878 and served two years. It will be of interest also to learn that Mr. Streetman is related to the late Wyatt Lipscomb, a famous sheriff of Milam county who served in the court house along with the late Captain John B. Wolf and Captain A. J. Lewis.

Mr. Streetman has an interesting experience to relate in the World War. He served with the first sanitary train with the First Division which was a unit of the regular army. The old First Division figured prominently in five major operations. At the time Mr. Streetman enlisted in the army, he was living in Cameron, completing his training in El Paso and sailed from Hoboken, New York on the 13th day of Aug. 1917. His first baptism of fire came in October 1917 when the First Division entered the hostilities. Mr. Streetman came back to the United States on April 8, 1920. The First Division was the first contingent of troops to go over and the last to return.

It was a proud day for Mr. Streetman and his war buddies when they escorted General Pershing down Fifth Avenue in New York and also in Washington. In the old First Division was Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and his brother, Kermit Roosevelt. The colonel was wounded and Mr. Streetman was in the ambulance detachment that carried him off the battlefield.

Mr. Streetman is a prominent member of the local post of Veterans of Foreign Wars and also the American Legion. As a young Cameron business man he is a leader in civic and social affairs.

THE RECORD... Facts That Concern You

$2,132,891.90* TO THE RESCUE

AND that's just the beer tax revenue this state itself collects... to lift the burden of direct taxation from your shoulders. Nationwide, beer contributes over a million dollars a day to the cost of government. Think what that means in paying for relief, in public works, in old age assistance right in your own community.

Then think of the million new jobs that beer made. And then add to that a 100 million dollar market for farmers' crops!

How can we keep these benefits... for you and for us? Brewers of America realize this depends on keeping beer retailing as wholesome as beer itself. They want to help public officials in every possible way. They cannot enforce laws. But they can—and will—cooperate!

Our Town

ernment and end our system of free enterprise.

If this isn't collectivism, then I don't know the meaning of that term. When our government takes over our production, when our government entrenches itself in office beyond the possibility of removal, then we have the same conditions that exist in Russia and Germany and Italy.

It is easier to get into that condition than out of it. The greater the dependence of business and employment upon government, the more federal money is needed. Almost every business sells a part of its output to government, or to concerns manufacturing for the government. Thus the Administration's spending program becomes in effect a club over all business. It becomes a bribe, paid with taxpayers' money, for perpetuation of the New Deal.

Any government with the power to be the economic guardian of its people cannot long tolerate dissent from its plans or political opposition. If we keep on lending and spending billions in the manner now proposed, effective political opposition to the administration entrenched in office will disappear. Already the number dependent upon government is so great that many ask whether Mr. Roosevelt is not already in a position to use this control to re-nominate and re-elect himself. Ask yourself this question: If you had 26 million people dependent upon you might you not be tempted to keep them that way? If they become self-dependent you might lose them—and their votes.

All this is unnecessary. When the President promised recovery, we gave him powers so great that he himself said that in other hands they would become shackles upon our liberties. At his request we gave him unlimited billions, more to spend at his personal discretion than all Presidents since George Washington. There is no alibi. The President has failed. We do not have recovery. We have debt, depression and unemployment. With such a record, the president of any university, the manager of any business would be asked to resign.

Nations which followed the road of encouraging private enterprise which President Roosevelt traveled in his first 100 days have far greater prosperity than we. During the past four years twenty-one nations with 600,000,000 population had a total cumulative deficit of only $312,000,000; while the United States, with one-quarter as many people, added twelve billion dollars—forty times as much—to its debt. These nations have had more prosperous agriculture, two to four times as much building per capita, higher employment, more profitable business without endangering their solvency by growing debt. These nations did not undermine private enterprise by government lending and spending.

And yet we should be far better off than they are. Our natural wealth is greater. We have the productive capacity—factories, mines, farms. We have efficient management and ambitious workers to give us, projected on the century-old rate of growth, an annual income of $105,000,000,000. After six years of fruitless experimentation, the Roosevelt Administration has left the nation with a shrunken income of $65,000,000,000. Forty billions of lost income!

These forty billions would give every farm owner $800 a year more. Every non-agricultural gainfully employed worker an increase of wage or salary of $365 a year. Eleven billions for increased taxes, rents, interest and dividends. And there would still remain $1000 a year each to give employment to 10,000,000 jobless without burdening the federal treasury.

Our democracy is the greatest heritage that any people in the world has ever possessed. The American way of life has demonstrated itself through a century and a half and has stimulated more new enterprise and invention, has given us constantly rising standards of living, better housing, more food, greater freedom in our civil, religious and personal lives than any people in history have enjoyed. We need government policies that will permit this system to function as it formerly did.

When we fight to restore our constitutional system of free enterprise, we strive to preserve our precious personal liberties and at the same time give you and your family your rightful share of the 40 billions missing from the national income. Discuss this issue with your family and with your friends. Arouse others. Tell the precinct captain and the county chairman of your political party that in 1940 you will vote only for candidates pledged to restoration of free enterprise and halting of government spending. Your Senators and Congressmen are coming home. See them or write them. Make vigorous protest against new spending programs. Get others to do likewise.

Your own and your children's future depends upon the outcome.

CARDUI is a good stimulator for lagging appetites, a real aid to digestion and assimilation. That's why its proper use enables so many women and girls to build up physical resistance, and thus helps them avoid the periodic pain of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
WITHDRAWS SUPPORT FROM DAY NURSERY

Underprivileged children in the Day Nursery will need $10 more after August. The Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday night voted to withdraw support from the school and to discontinue making the $10 donation on September 1st.

Then more Good Samaritans will be added to the list of subscribers. Call or see Mrs. L. Van Perkins and make your subscriptions for one year at a stipulated amount per month.

Withdrawal of this support by the Chamber of Commerce means a loss of $120 and it will be necessary to raise this amount in addition to the amounts already subscribed.

The Chamber of Commerce voted to discontinue its support because under its new policy it conceives its duties to be promotional and not supportive. No new committee has been named to manage the Day Nursery. The original Sponsors are still in charge. The only change noted is that the people stepped in to give the little children proper food when the Committee, still in charge voted to discontinue the school.

THE PROOF TO ME IS IN THE AMOUNT OF T.P.&L. SERVICE I GET FOR MY MONEY

The SMALLEST ITEM OF AVERAGE FAMILY BUDGET IS T.P. & L. SERVICE

SOME PLAIN

FACTS ABOUT THE LOW COST OF T.P. & L. SERVICE

ONE

Because of frequent rate reductions, the average cost of TP&L residential electric service has gone down consistently... even when the cost of living has risen sharply from time to time.

TWO

The average TP&L customer (using about 50 kilowatt-hours per month) gets more than twice as much electric service at today's low rates as he received for the same amount of money in 1927.

THREE

Taxes are higher... prices for food, clothing and other necessities are up... BUT, the cost of TP&L service is lower than ever before... lower because of frequent rate reductions.

FOUR

TP&L service is the smallest item of the average family budget. Less than 2% of the average family budget is needed to pay for TP&L service for lighting, refrigeration, washing, ironing, cooling, cleaning, keeping time, radio entertainment... and other important services.

THE BIGGEST

BARGAIN

IN TOWN

You buy convenience, comfort, health and leisure when you buy TP&L service... the biggest bargain in town! On one month's service bill the average TP&L customer pays for about eight important services. Each one of these services saves time and labor. Each, from lighting to refrigeration, adds to the joy and ease of modern living. Each, within itself, is a bargain. They all combine to present the biggest bargain in town! TP&L service is cheaper and more useful than any other item on the family budget!

February 7, 1895, L. W. Raley rode his horse across the Brazos river into the Briary community in the north east corner of Milam County. He was married to Miss Margaret Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Duncan, pioneer community builder and local Methodist Lay preacher of that community, August 29, 1897. The newly married couple made their home on a seventy acre farm in that community and have lived there since that time.

Last Sunday and Monday the Raley's had a family reunion at which the nine children, three grand children and three 'in laws' were present. One looking over the group could not but feel that the finest 'crop' ever grown on the farm was not the cotton and corn but the boys and girls. Mr. and Mrs. Raley did a fine job in rearing their family. Those present are holding responsible positions in religious, educational, economic and professional walks of life. All are high school graduates, and six of them have received eleven university and seminary degrees.

The three girls are as follows: Violet is a graduate of Baylor University and has had graduate work in Texas University, and Columbia University, New York City. Mrs. Raley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thames, Smithville, Texas, is a graduate of Baylor College and Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania holding the degree of Bachelor of Sacred Music.

Leroy is pastor of the First Baptist Church, Chandler, Oklahoma. He accepted the call to this position March 1, 1939, after serving as pastor of the Baptist Church at Rush Springs, Oklahoma, since 1933. His work as pastor of the Rush Springs Church gained attention of the Baptists of Oklahoma and the Southern Baptist Convention, and was 'written up' in the Baptist Messenger, official Baptist organ of Oklahoma, and several Southern Baptist periodicals. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Baylor University in 1930, and afterward qualified for the degree of Bachelor of Theology at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and Master of Theology at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas. He received a five-year commission as First Lieutenant in the Organized Reserves of the United States army in 1938. He is now a graduate student in Baylor University and will return to Hastings in September to resume his work there. While in Oklahoma Baptist University he was president of the class of 1938, vice president of the student body, a member of the HOW club and the Emethian social club.

Floyd, the youngest of the children was graduated from Yoe High school, Cameron, in 1938 and is a student in Baylor University. He is a member of the Ministerial Alliance, Baptist Student Union, and Volunteer Band of Baylor, and is an officer in the largest college BYPU in the world, the Apex union of the Seventh and James Street Baptist Church, Waco.

Mr. and Mrs. Raley were happy to welcome home their children for the reunion and although they are not as young in years as they once were, they are in fine health and happy in their home and the fruits of their labors. They have worked hard through these forty-two years, have had many hardships which they faced courageously and have won in the great work of life. They taught their children the importance of faith in God coupled with hard work to succeed in life. Surely their little 70 acre farm has yielded a rich harvest.
